supporting well-being and belonging for all.

FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE to meet each family's unique financial situation.

In my early adulthood, I suffered from medical issues that left me in disabling pain and stuck in a career that made me unhappy and hopeless. I became a part-time sports coordinator leading youth sports programs at my local Y. I immediately found joy and happiness working with the community, youth and an organization that encouraged me to be the best version of myself. By the end of the summer, I lost more than 60 pounds, forged close and meaningful friendships and achieved a sense of accomplishment.

Today, my journey has come full circle back to the Y. I have a 5-year-old who I have been coaching in the basketball league and our family became members of the McKinney Y. This past summer, our son joined the Y's camps, where we saw his confidence skyrocket and he became ready to take on a new school. In addition, my wife is expecting and has found great joy and benefit at the Y. Having this community and access has helped us have an enjoyable and healthy pregnancy.

For me and my family, the Y has always been and will always be home, and we couldn't be happier.
